

This circular piece of plastic that you are holding in your hands is the semi-annual xmas death mix, volume III. If you received this as a holiday gift, it means that Sam considers you a friend... I'm so sorry. Anyway, this disc is filled to the brim with some of the most dark, depressing, and suicidal music that Sam's iTunes library has to offer. Enjoy... if you can.

For those of you living in the future, you'll be interested to know that this cd is a multi-session cd. If you put this disc into your computer, you'll notice that that second session contains the original mp3s and a text file. You can drag the mp3s into your iTunes (you had better be using iTunes) library. Then click File > Import and navigate to the text file labeled, "xmas death.txt." That will bring in the playlist... and you should be good to go.
